Hib Norea is a 16 years old student in 10th grade at The ASIJ School which is located in Chup Krom village, Svay Leu commune, Svay Leu district, and Siem Reap province.

Norea has gotten seven members in her family, her parents, two younger sisters and two younger brothers and herself. She is the first child in the family. Her parents are farmers and they have owned half hectare of farmland for growing rice. They have grown rice once a year and they could get one ton (1000kg) at once. For this one ton of rice, they sold out half ton (500kg) to reimburse for the cost of fertilizer to the shop owner only and they couldn't use that income to pay for something else besides the fertilizers' reimbursement.

Norea narrated that besides transplanting rice, her parents still tried to find some income from other ways in order to patch up the family's needs. So that they were employed to pick the cashew nuts and sometimes they got $10 to $15 per day regarding they collected more or less cashew nuts. But Norea claimed that money wasn't the regular income.

Whereas Norea, besides studying she helps her parents take care of her young siblings and cleans the house.
