Ko La is a 16 years old student in 7th grade at The ASIJ School which is located in Chup Krom village, Svay Leu commune, Svay Leu district, and Siem Reap province.

Ko La has gotten eight siblings including her. She is a third born in the poor family. Her parents are farmers. Unfortunately, they haven't had big farmland to produce rice to feed the whole family like this. Presently, they have owned 30 meters' width and 50 meters' length of farmland for the rice transplantation but it wasn't enough to afford the family.

Ko La said regarding on their yearly rice production, they have produced rice to benefit from 300kgs to 500kgs of rice's output per year. She continued that her parents hadn't sold the rice out owing to they haven't sufficiently afforded many members in the family.

Ko La complained according to her big family's responsibility therefore her parents have had to find by all means to work for other rich people in order to get income to patch up the family's needs. As for Ko La, she hasn't attended the school frequently because of her parents asked her to help take care of her younger sisters, younger brothers and cooked food for them at home.
