She was born in Po Kreng village, Dak Dam commune, O Reang district, Mondulkiri province. Sreynit's parents, owning two hectares of farmland, producing 370 kg of rice per year, earning $50 per month, are a poor minority (Buo Nong) family. Additionally, they collect fruit, resin and vegetables from surrounding forests to sell in the local market. The family lives in a small wooden house, isolated from the village, and far from the school. As a result, Sreynit lives at a dormitory during the week, and goes home to help her family on the weekends. Sreynit receives $10 a month from her parents to support her studies.

In the future, she wants to be a nurse because she thinks that nurses can help a lot of poor people, especially the minority population.
