

Girl's name: Dang Kampeang

Kampeang is 11-year-old student who is attending in 3rd grade at Torn Lorng Le School in O' Chum district and Ratanakiri province.

Kampeang's house is recently located near school about 500 meters and she walks to school every day. She has one sister and two brothers and she is the youngest kid in the family. Her parents are farmers. Officially, they don't own any farmland for growing crops and nowadays, her parents grow cashew trees and rice on the community land and get about 1000 US dollar per year.

Besides growing rice and cashew trees her father works as a normal construction worker and gets about 50 US dollar in a month.

In the future, Kampeang wants to be a banker because she wants a secure job with a high salary. She doesn't want to be a farmer like her parents. She thinks in order to earn money from the farming so her parents must work hard all days at fields.

Date posted: June 2018